

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. KNOWLEDGE.

That there is nothing new under the sun is indeed an eternal truth for all our worlds past, present and future knowledge may be crowned with one hundred simple and proper words.

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

TO THE EDITOR:—

Insanity—is a prolonged departure from good old-fashioned common sense.

Madness—is a hereditary and incurable disease of the nervous system.

Delusions—are caused by the vapors from various diseases.

Paranoia—is a word without a reality.

Monomania—is a term under which eccentric persons belong when they do not appreciate their proper places in life until the course of human events calls for the practice of their hobbies.

Mania—is caused by subnormal or abnormal gratification of the appetites.

Paresis—is a too long neglected disease of the blood.

Dementia—is the last stage of real madness.

The reality of the word responsibility should ever be identified with the law of a land, the strength of mind should be judged from the strength of memory in this our world's diamond age.

TO THE EDITOR:—

Having to wait twenty-two minutes for a train to a "Town beautiful" I was tempted in the meantime to "take in" one of those moving picture shows and in just seventeen minutes the following "affairs" were shown:

Three foolish women running away from and returning to their "easy" husbands; One white man killing 479 Indians to save his "loved one;" "A village of 'old maids' at bed time;" "Sound and normal persons being railroaded to and held in madhouses by unsound and abnormal degenerates;" "High-toned people starving themselves for the sake of fashions;" "Retribution of the ill-minded," and so on.

I reflected "catching the limited" that some folks might well wait until they could afford the price of admission to a proper show.

TO THE EDITOR:—

Uncle Sam should try to buy Canada,—for this great part of America will be as logically essential to his future's contentment as will be the harmony of local and State laws in the future's one nation Cosmopolitan U. S. A.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that the charity dependents of the various states be transferred—and properly treated by persons naturally qualified to do the same—to federal reservation pavilions on farms for the economical and general welfare of the country.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that the ventilation at present in railway cars is unhealthful. In fact the temperature of the same need not vary more or less than ten degrees from sixty, and thermometers are necessary for this purpose in all public carriages.

TO THE EDITOR:—

How many of us could properly identify our own money in case we should lose it? In fact, it would not in the least inconvenience even the most careful to note the numbers and dates on currency.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The gentlemen who are condemning dive-music, moving picture shows and vile postcards are certainly doing some real "uplift" work for the general welfare of their less fortunate fellow human beings. How persons of supposed culture, grace of body and of mind could so long tolerate things originating in the minds of degenerates indeed suggests the need of a National board of moral Censorship.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The advantages and disadvantages of municipal ownership are as a plucked or unplucked peacock—personal or general—and as an ideal condition in practice would ultimately become one of the best systems ever conceived by normal men.

TO THE EDITOR:—

It seems most lamentable indeed that certain writers, cartoonists and, disappointed office seekers should be allowed to make a public display of their disrespect for the president of a country. Where is their intellect, proper taste or even common sense displayed in setting themselves up as judges of a great nation's president?

TO THE EDITOR:—

The periodical railroad ordinances sound like “artificial persons’ ” jokes, and their logical answers are—no seats, no fares.

TO THE EDITOR:—

It is about time for the railroad directors to order new stations for their local lines, as the fact has long been obvious that the present excuses badly effect the interests of property owners, the public's and even their own, and that most of these stations are far behind these times.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The boards of health and scientific investigators should inspect the stuff cooked and served as food in the “coffee houses” of these times. For were the owners of such places incorporated with disreputable undertakers and physicians in a sort of an “uplift movement” they could not be more enterprising.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The accounts of flights through the air recall our boyish readings of Frank Reade and his airships. How far more interesting indeed would be the news that mechanics, civil engineers, meteorologists and aviators had established an international club for the purpose of effecting, as soon as may be, the actual crossing of the Earth's oceans for the general welfare of humanity.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The great amounts of money turned over at present for snobby studies in the public schools might well be used in a thousand different ways to better advantage, for the fact is obvious that this age is calling for systematic manual, art and business educations. The learned professions, of course, should ever be identified with normal ambitions and natural abilities.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper, that the work of women has become as important as that of men, so they may justly demand proper compensation for their own welfare.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that the president should be allowed to appoint and discharge national boards of institutional inspectors. For the fact is obvious that millions of dollars have been wasted and grafted through the ill-management of County, general, and State Institutions for dependents. The cause of such a lamentable loss of money may be traced to the doors of ill-empowered politicians. The noble stream of charity for real and worthy dependents should never be allowed to rise or fall in politics, but be ever identified among the ideal sentiments of mankind.

TO THE EDITOR:—

Could I but have my way
A corker I would be,
I'd never let folks souse themselves
While on this world's blue sea.
They might flirt and rag a bit
And a good story tell,
But when they'd try to souse themselves
They surely would taste hell.

TO THE EDITOR:—

You may be pleased to learn that Uncle Sam hands out the following amounts of money annually for the proper care of unfortunates :

For	No of	Amounts
2,500 Almshouses	100,000—	$20,000,000
15,000 Various hospitals	Indefinite—	30,000,000
300 Insane Asylums	300,000—	20,000,000
1,300 Prisons	60,000—	13,000,000
42 Retreats for deaf, dumb and blind	160,000—	5,000,000
19,142	620,000	$88,000,000
Institutions	Inmates	Total amount

The United States is certainly very considerate of this weakness of its strength and cannot at present think of using chloroform as a cure for the same.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that up-to-date and clean-cut schools in citizenship be established throughout the country. As the fact is obvious that most men do not know nor understand what they vote for during the primary and presidential elections, and this accounts for much of the dissatisfaction about affairs local and National.

TO THE EDITOR:—

This government might at least for its own interest transfer all male and female tramps, willful and unwillful idlers, according to their individual temperaments, to various mental and physical occupations for the government in the Western States. For such an act, if properly executed, occasionally would, I am sure, very soon result in more National and real prosperity for this country.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The new law regarding marriages in New Jersey is full of senseless flaws and morally dangerous, for the fact is obvious that the practice of this same law will but make common law marriages inviting, “smart,” “classy,” and popular instead of preserving the most sacred agreement ever subject to the noble lex non scripta of mankind.

TO THE EDITOR:—

A national college of memory should be established in every State and capital of the Earth. The benefits to be derived from the various sources of study—according to the individual temperaments of prospective students in such institutions would, of course, show mentally, morally and physically in the harmony of mankind of the future.

TO THE EDITOR:—

It is about time the lawmakers turned out some flawless work for the general welfare of humanity. I would, through your newspaper, suggest as a starter that a law be passed abolishing the present most lamentable necessity for young women—the future mothers of men—slaving the best parts of their lives away in factories, shops and offices of congested cities while they might with laws to this effect, be cultivating various kinds of farms and gardens for the government.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The shelterless, dirty and useless benches in the parks might well be changed for sheltering, clean and useful seats around trees of these beautiful relaxation and recreation places for the people.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your excellent newspaper that something should be done with that certain class of business people who persist in using the names and photo-cuts of Lincoln and Washington on clothes, watches, tobacco, pipes, writing materials, breakfast foods, books and so on, for sale. Such persons should be taught enough proper taste and business sense to hold the names of Washington and Lincoln as the most sacred of any in this nation.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The new law regarding automobile drivers in New York is certainly good enough, if properly enforced, to be adopted by all the States. In fact the time has arrived to bring wild drivers of all kinds back to where they normally belong in life for the general security of the public.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that all dogs excepting pet bow-wows, receive a perpetual vacation from well-protected villages, towns and cities, and be sent to where they originally belong in life—the ill-protected country parts of nations.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that the physical and mental culturists who are trying to have general laws passed in harmony with their own ideas need to be shown that the human race has well existed, with and without such up to dateness, millions of years and is better off now than it ever has been.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that too much noise is heard nowadays from agitators and disappointed office-seekers who have had little to recommend them beyond their own past mugwumping weather-cocking, burlesque heroism, idleness, and big words under the term, "National Progressive Party." The fact is obvious that the reality of the word reform has become hypocrisy. May real heroes arise when circumstances call them, but may there ever be normal men controlling official affairs in times of peace!

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that something be done with the hoodlums, "up-to-date guys," and "classy ginks," who jog through the streets at all hours whistling and yelling out the "latest" dive tunes of the day.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish that some reflective reader of your newspaper would inform me whence most professional people of these times get their ethics and manners. Are the same natural or acquired? That university degrees are freely granted to those who have not even acquired ethics is as much a pity as is the fact that the people nowadays do not properly appreciate culture's foundation, good old-fashioned manners! In fact ethics and manners have become "humbly vulgar," and it is certainly about time for us to class them as exalted and correct for there can be displayed about a human being nothing else so beautiful.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The periodical complaints in newspapers about the street car service in this world's greatest city are most amusingly absurd for persons who have been more than a thousand miles away from Herald Square know that New York is the model and leader in street car public service as it is easily in everything else. In fact it is a pity that the street railway directors of all Towns and Cities in the Union do not, with special inducements, hire experienced railway men from Manhattan Isle for the proper regulation and management of their street railways. The "Public be pleased" should indeed be ever the desk motto of logical and normal gentlemen even outside of our world's metropolis.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that most of the “popular” songs published nowadays are most indecent and should, therefore, for the sake of moral harmony in folks be condemned.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that the individuals who are so wrapped up in themselves as to be constantly adjusting their clothes, nails, hair, shoe strings, etc., in public be laughed out of themselves for the sake of common sense.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to suggest through your newspaper that the old gaps in the coypright law be filled by clauses requiring all applicants for registration to appear before notaries and sign statements properly covering, the main outlines of their compositions for publication, and that copies of such affidavits be sent to and filed by the librarians of Congress until these gentlemen receive the printed and published matter for full copyright.

All publications should be legally stamped and numbered for the protection of authors and publishers.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that the National census officials should be ordered to send copies of citizens' histories and careers to every public library in the Union. As the city directories at present are more useless than useful when it is necessary to find out for business and social purposes who, where, and what citizens are in life.

TO THE EDITOR:—

Too much care cannot be exercised in appointing superintendents and supervisors to general, County, and State Institutions as the periodical "affairs" arising in such Retreats may generally be traced to the fact that incompetent nurses in these places are not properly reported and discharged so as to make room for persons who are naturally qualified to take proper care of the really sick, helpless, and aged in life.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that the great National conservators and their friends should be careful enough not to get lost, as Americans cannot afford to be without such examples of heroism, personal harmony and common sense in life.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I wish to say through your newspaper that there are too many persons nowadays believing that all drugs and stimulants should be easily obtainable without a physician's prescription at every corner drug shop. Now, this assumption is most lamentable and too often dangerous, as all human beings are even chemically different, and consequently require, during their periods of sickness and weakness, drugs, stimulants, and treatments differing according, therefore, all persons should be guided when necessary by the prescriptions from their family physician in life.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The note from "T. A." in Saturday's issue of your newspaper brings up an interesting subject. In fact, real and normal Americans should be cosmopolitan in name, language and in actions.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The best human germs that appeared in our little world may be numbered from the ten tiny fingers of a child's hands thusly :

Moses	Master of Religion
Socrates	“ “ Logic
Alexander	“ “ War
Diogenes	“ “ Simplicity
Christ	“ “ Manhood
Alfred	“ “ Statesmanship
Angelo	“ “ Art
Washington	“ “ Liberty
Taine	“ “ Literature
(Reserved)	“ “ Philosophy

Life invisible and visible to the intellects of human beings exists as spheres of germs ever radiating from their own various pressures through definite spaces of the Universe.

TO THE EDITOR:—

I herewith suggest to the honorable lawmakers of this country that the presidents of the National colleges of learning be empowered to do the appointing of examiners, who are qualified to identify all applicants for governmental appointments—as shall have been trained systematically and by degrees, according to their individual temperaments, when applying and reporting for any government duty as may be specified by such examiners under the term—Citizens Service.
